

Employment Status by Municipality

The City of Johannesburg employs the highest number of people of the eight municipalities in the project. It is followed closely by the City of Cape Town, which employs 1 250 731 people. Capricorn District Municipality employs the least, with only 185 897 people employed. Apart from the City of Johannesburg, this does not correlate with the population per municipality; as the City of Johannesburg has the highest population, followed by eThekweni with a population of more than 3 million. Motheo District Municipality has the lowest population of the eight municipalities; however Capricorn has a lower number of employed people.

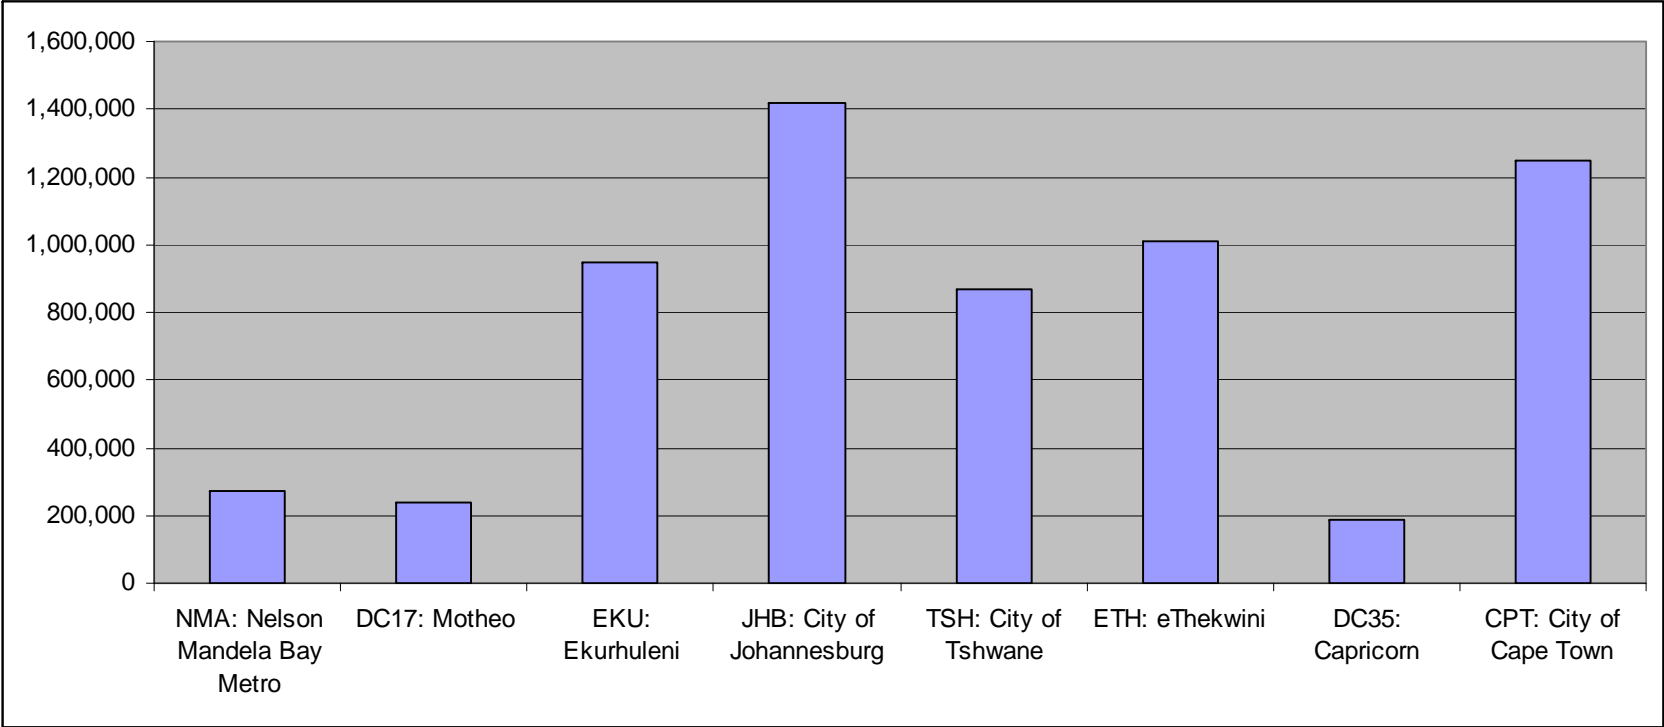

eThekweni has the highest number of people who are not economically active. They are followed by the City of Cape Town with 677 389, and the City of Johannesburg with 626 770. Motheo District Municipality has the lowest number of people who are not economically active.

The City of Johannesburg has the highest number of unemployment with 596 420 people without jobs. This is in terms of the strict or formal definition of unemployment. eThekweni follows with 506 112, and Motheo has the least number of unemployed people with 105 576.

Population per municipality

Population employed by municipality amongst those aged 15 - 65 years

Population not economically active by municipality amongst those aged 15 - 65 years

Population unemployed by municipality amongst those aged 15 - 65 years

